

Appendix A

Panel Charter

- Define space applications which enhance the intrinsic capabilities of the Air Force.
- Project system concepts and operations that will offer fundamental improvements and reduce costs in military operations.
- Identify those areas which will most likely revolutionize the 21st century Air Force.
- Consider the use of commercial and international space systems to support military operations and the impact on United States security from proliferating technology
- Recognize the Air Force responsibility to support warfighting as well as national customers and integrate operations with other services and agencies.