

AU Deterrence Research Task Force

Air University Commander and President, Lt Gen Steven Kwast directed the stand-up of the Deterrence Research Task Force in 2015 as part of an Air University-wide effort to engage the students and faculty with the critical examination and development of operationally-relevant policy challenges. The Deterrence Research Task Force, in addition to teaching a two-term deterrence research group elective and promoting student research, is a single-inject point for the development and maturation of Air Force research and education on deterrence.” More to follow on contact information.